DÁNIEL TISZEKER FILMOGRAPHY

BIO

I have been working in the Hungarian film industry since 2005, starting my career as assistant director and casting director in Hungarian feature films.

My first feature documentary was presented in 2014, called "Micsoda útjaink". The movie tells the story of a group of young Hungarian theatre actors, was shot mainly in New York and is still being screened in one of Budapest's most popular theaters, the Belvárosi Theater.

My first feature film is #Sohavégetnemérős, a critically acclaimed musical comedy that became the second highest grossing Hungarian feature film presented in 2016. The movie was also nominated in the Best Feature Film category at the Hungarian Film Prize awards organized by the Hungarian National Film Fund. I worked as a technical director in the highest grossing Hungarian film in 2016, The Horsearcher, a documentary about the world famous Lajos Kassai. In the beginning of 2017, my second feature documentary debuted in Hungarian cinemas: What a circus is about a Hungarian circus group, I was the co-director of the film.

I have been making and participating in several short films, commercials, virus videos and corporate image films. With my company, Fanatics Film, I had the honor to shoot in more than 30 countries around the world in smaller and bigger productions.
